Welcome Back

Patron Health and Safety Guidelines

Dear fellow music lovers,

Welcome back! I imagine that none of us will take live music for granted again after such a long absence, which makes coming together this season even more special. Thank you for your incredible support and words of encouragement over these many months, and for your unwavering belief in this Symphony.

Our Board of Directors and staff utilized this historic period to reflect, assess, and plan for a future of artistic exploration, community relevance, and financial sustainability. With the understanding that moving musical experiences evoke empathy, promote equity, and build stronger communities, we look forward to announcing a series of new initiatives designed to connect our artists and audiences like never before.

This season, the 2021-2022 Classical and Pops concerts will celebrate life with works new and familiar, as well as bold and uplifting. Whether it's Beethoven, Mozart, or Stravinsky or the music of Queen, Chicago, or Aretha Franklin, you'll hear the brilliant and versatile musicians of the Long Beach Symphony perform great music with profound passion and an overwhelming sense of joy. We're also delighted to announce the long-awaited debut of the Violins of Hope in concert on January 8 and 9, 2022.

We are thrilled to bring you another incredible season of music performed by extraordinary musicians and guest artists. I look forward to seeing you when the curtain rises and thank you again for your support.

With appreciation,

Kelly Lucera

The Long Beach Symphony is proud to present “Violins of Hope,” a concert commemorating and featuring a unique collection of restored instruments played by Jewish musicians during the Holocaust – many of them in concentration camps. These instruments were saved and have been painstakingly restored. They represent the love and tragedy of many musicians and listeners; the destiny of millions of people; and the power of music to transcend the darkest hours of humanity. This concert is presented as part of “Violins of Hope Los Angeles County,” a region-wide dialogue about music, art, social justice, and free expression.
